MOTOR APPARATUS IS STRONGLY URGED

Many Favorable Comments on Proposal to do Away With Horse-Drawn Fire Equipment

MANY SCHEMES ARE ON FOOT

One For Present Apparatus in Residence District—Others Favor Truck and Pumper

Since the announcement has been made that the city council is in the market for motor fire apparatus of the latest type, considerable agitation could be heard today concerning the purchase of the new equipment and the disposal of the horse drawn wagon.

Councilman Abercrombie stated that next week there would be a firemen's meeting in Anderson and several of the councilmen would attend in order to view some of the latest designs in pumper and fire fighting equipment.

He stated that the councilmen were almost positive of making a purchase, but several other things must be taken into consideration first. Many people have protested the purchase of a large fire truck and pumper combined, unless the horses are retained.

It has been suggested that the horses be placed in a station located in the north end of Rushville, and with two fire companies, the entire city could be given close watch. This agitation is strongly urged by owners of factories and those people living in the remote sections of Cherry Grove and in the vicinity of the Park Furniture company.

The horses would be worn out in case of a fire in these sections, because the fire department is not centrally located. Rushville also has been fortunate in not having two fire alarms at once. In this case one fire would be neglected, while with two fire companies, any emergency could be met.

With the horse drawn wagon on the hill, and the new truck and chemical truck in the town station, Rushville would be well protected in every locality. On account of the long distance from the factories, one furniture factory purchased 500 feet of fire hose to have on hand to fight fire until assistance could reach them from down town. Two other factories installed sprinkler systems, on account of the distance from the fire station.

RUSHVILLE SCHOOLS WILL OPEN SEPT. 12

School Board Fixes Date Week Later Than Customary at Session Held Wednesday

L. L. ALLEN NAMED PRESIDENT

The Rushville public schools will open on Monday, September 12, which is a week later than the customary date, it was announced by Superintendent J. H. Scholl today, the date having been agreed upon by the school board Wednesday.

The opening was postponed a week on account of the state fair falling in the first full week of September, which always interferes with school attendance, and for the additional reason that there will be a special election on Tuesday, September 6, to vote on the proposed amendments to the state constitution. About half of the township schools will open on the same date as the Rushville schools, and the remainder will begin their terms on September 5.

The Rushville school board reorganized at its meeting yesterday, L. L. Allen being elected president, Warden Wyatt, the new member succeeding Homer Cole recently, secretary, and Mrs. Allie Aldridge, treasurer.

Supt. Scholl also announced today that junior high school pupils who had not obtained their report cards may do so by calling at his home, corner of Seventh and Jackson streets.

YOUTH ACCUSED OF THEFT

George Allen Charged With Stealing $50 From Mrs. Mary Nestle

George Allen, a young man who says his residence is in Alpine, Fayette county, is in jail here on a charge of grand larceny, being unable to provide $500 bond for his appearance in the circuit court. Allen was placed in jail late yesterday by Patrolman Nicholson, when Mrs. Mary Nestle, 515 West Ninth street, said he stole $50 in money from her house. Mrs. Nestle filed an affidavit to that effect. According to the officers, the young man has been rooming at the Nestle home, and the prosecuting witness missed the $50, which she said was of paper denominations. Mrs. Nestle is an aged woman, and is commonly known as "Granny Dutch."

DANCE FOR BENEFIT OF SCHOOL MILK FUND

Psi Iota Xi Sorority Announces One For August 19 to Help Extend Scope of Work

CITY WILL BE CANVASSED

The Rushville public schools milk fund, which has been increased with benefit base ball games this summer, will be given another boost when the Psi Iota Xi sorority of this city gives a benefit dance at the Modern Woodman hall on Friday evening, August 19.

The Woman's Council which started the milk fund, hopes to extend it to all of the buildings in the city in time. It was tried in the Havens building last year and was a very great success, but its operation requires much money.

It is expected that the benefit dance will yield a large sum on account of the purpose for which it is given. A charge of $1.50 will be made and the city will be canvassed by members of the sorority in the sale of tickets. An Indianapolis orchestra will provide the music.

AMERICA REMEMBERS GOD-GIVEN DESTINY

More Firmly Founded Than Ever, Pres. Harding Tell Lancaster, N. H., Residents

AIM OF HIS ADMINISTRATION

(By United Press)

Lancaster, N. H., Aug. 4—"Nothing on earth can prevent America from forgetting her God given destiny," President Harding declared in a speech here today.

"America is more firmly founded than ever and it is my hope that before my term of office shall have expired the things for which we have staked will be so firmly planted that men can turn their attentions to pursuits of peace and attainments of the higher ends which God intends."

The president came in from Secretary Week's summer home to speak to the Lancaster residents.

The president, who had come to the mountains to live and move around in the same way as hundreds of others on their vacations at resorts in the vicinity, could not resist the pleadings of the villagers whose only chance to see the president was at today's meeting.

Except for this appearance the president was shut off completely from public gaze.

The speech was made at noon in the village square called centennial park, having been opened in 1864 on the hundredth anniversary of the founding of the settlement.

TRUST BUSTING SUIT FILED TODAY

Attorney General U. S. Lesh Names Thirty-Eight Milk Producers in Twenty-Nine Cities

ASKS FOR RECEIVERSHIPS

Indiana Manufacturers of Dairy Products, An Organization of Dairy Men, Also Defendant

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 4.—Action against an alleged dairy products trust operating throughout Indiana was taken here by Attorney General U. S. Lesh in the superior court of Marion county here today.

Thirty-eight producers in twenty-nine cities were named defendants in the petition, which asked that each permanently enjoined from doing further business and that receivers be appointed to wind up the affairs of each concern.

This is the second trust busting suit filed by the state within the last few weeks, the other one being against an alleged ice combine centering in Indianapolis, but actually of state wide proportions. When the ice suit was filed, Lesh intimated others of similar nature would follow soon.

The Indiana Manufacturers of Dairy Products, an organization of dairy men, was also named defendant. It was charged that the defendant companies held "get together" meetings to further their price fixing schemes, using the name of the Indiana Manufacturers of Dairy Products as a pretext.

"By the combined power and concerted action of the several defendants," the petition said, "they are able to and in fact do arbitrarily control in a substantial and hurtful way the milk, butter, ice cream and allied products in this state. They are able to and in fact do arbitrarily control and dictate the price to be paid to the producers of milk and cream, and are and have been maintaining an unreasonable and unconscionable low level of price to the producers, and thereby are discouraging the farmers and dairymen in the production of milk and cream."

The defendants named in the petition were: The Indiana Manufacturers of Dairy Products; J. A. Long Company, Union City; Clover Leaf Creameries, Inc., Huntington; F. H. George and Company, Fort Wayne; Schlosser Brothers, Frankfort; Indiana Condensed Milk Company, Lebanon; Ray and Arnold Creamery Company, Logansport; Johnson Butter Company, Terre Haute; Nance's Creamery, Brazil; Ballard Ice Cream Company, Indianapolis; Evansville Pure Milk Company, Evansville; Vincennes Milk and Ice Cream Company, Vincennes; Washington Milk and Ice Cream Company, Washington; George Freeze's Sons, Nappanee; Campbell Ice Cream, and Milk Company, Muncie; Beatrice Creamery Company, Muncie; Indiana Ice and Dairy Company, Anderson; White Water Creamery Company, Connersville; Purity Maid Products, New Albany; John's Products Company, Marion; Robbins Dairy Company, Noblesville; Sanitary Milk Products Company, Indianapolis; Wadley Company, Indianapolis; Jersey Creamery Company, Newcastle; El River Valley Creamery Company, N. Baptist, and receiving an invitation to be the guest of the minister and wife at dinner.

"I am more than ever impressed with the bigness of the man, the bigness of his job and what I fully believe will be a big treat for Rush county folks next Sunday," Mr. Mauzy writes.

Mr. Mauzy was in a large measure responsible in the Rev. Mr. Petty being engaged for this year's program because he heard the New York minister at a meeting of the New York Rotary club last winter and he was so impressed with his message and his personality that he spoke to him about a chautauqua address here and presented the matter to the program committee, which resulted in the date being made for next Sunday.

Mr. Mauzy writes that following their dinner last Sunday "three steps down" in the heart of Greenwich Village, just a few squares from Judson Memorial church, he and Mr. and Mrs. Petty walked through the Italian quarter where the minister was greeted on all sides, "Hello Mr. Petty." They went to the Neighborhood House, the old homestead of Helen Gould, where there is a night school, day nursery, gymnasium, cooking school, dental clinic and other schools conducted by Judson Memorial church. Dr. Petty has twenty-six paid assistants working under his supervision, Mr. Mauzy says.

PEOPLE DEMAND LAW ENFORCEMENT

Letter to Local Fish, Game and Bird Protective Association Refers to Fish and Game Laws

PUBLIC SENTIMENT CHANGES

Best Citizens Who Formerly Winked at Violations Now Aid in Bringing Violators to Justice

"Evidence on every hand convinces us that public sentiment has reached the point where a majority of the people of this state favor and demand enforcement of the fish and game laws," says George N. Mannfeld, chief of the fish, game and bird protective associations, which has been received by George Coons, president of the Rush county organization.

"For many years some of our best citizens stood by knowing of flagrant violations of these laws but never moved so much as a finger to assist in bringing violators to justice. It is therefore pleasing to see that conditions are changed. In this connection we wish to acknowledge the valuable assistance of the various associations for without their active support this division will never be able to eliminate the confirmed violator."

"Experience has taught that trying to educate the "fish pirate" and "game hog" is a sad failure. It is only through prosecution they can ever be eliminated. This makes it necessary to vigorously enforce all game and fish laws. Ultimately we may look for a better observance of the laws."

The letter pays tribute to Richard Lieber, in charge of the game warden service as well as being director of the conservation department in these words: "In my opinion the present warden service is far superior to any which the state has ever had."

The following is a statement of arrests, convictions, and fines and costs assessed against violators of fish and game laws during the nine months from October 1 to June 30 in the fiscal years of 1918, 1919, 1920 and 1921, Mr. Mannfeld says.

Fiscal Year	Arrests	Convictions	Fines and Costs
1918	290	262	$ 5,751.70
1919	339	318	6,984.95
1920	1,091	1,027	25,482.50
1921	1,085	1,019	22,850.61

The total arrests made in 1920 were 1,421; convictions, 1,325, with fines and costs totalling $32,585.44. This record is expected to fall when the 1921 fiscal year ends September 30, Mr. Mannfeld believes. The fish and game division chief also appeals for additional cooperation from all organized protective clubs and individuals in conducting war on fish pirates said to be particularly active at this time of year.

Amusements

Meighan in Splendid Picture

Thomas Meighan's new picture, "The City of Silent Men", which is doing a record business at the Princess Theatre, is one of the most thrilling photoplays in which he has thus far been seen. As a convict who serves a term in Sing Sing for a crime of which he is innocent, Mr. Meighan appears to fine advantage. Lois Wilson, Kate Bruce, Paul Evertson and George MacQuarrie render excellent support.

It is a picturization of John Morris's famous novelette, "The Quarry". Bebe Daniels and Harry Meyers come tomorrow and remain over Saturday night "The March Hare", a peppy comedy drama.

A Story of the North

All the mystic romance of the north and the primitive passions of the men and women who battle the elements for their bread are forcefully depicted in "Wolves of the North", the sensationally dramatic Universal story coming to the screen of the Mystic Theatre Saturday.

Eva Novak plays the principal role. The picture was written and produced by Norman Dawn, a director who made such productions as "The Adorable Savage", "The Fire Cat" and "Lasea".

The story of "Wolves of the North" is daring in its ruthless exposure of human emotion. It concerns a girl a school teacher in Alaska, who is loved by two men. One of them is a two-fisted he-man with masculine faults. The other is a weakling in whom the crashing silences of the desolate country have not awakened the wolf-strain which the story implies, exists in all men.

As the dramatic story rushes toward its climax it is never certain which of the men the girl will marry, but her choice may by force of circumstances, is satisfactory.

MOTOR APPARATUS IS STRONGLY URGED

The horses cost the city $850 a year for their upkeep, it also has been pointed out. If they are retained, it will mean that in the course of a few months further agitation would be made for their replacement by a truck.

Chief Williamson stated today that he was heartily in favor of a truck with a pumper for the down town station, but he also insisted that the council should buy another hose truck for the residence and factory districts, and in this manner completely motorize the fire department.

There seems to be no opposition to buying a pumper. The steam pumper is of an old type, and is liable to go to pieces at any fire, and repair parts are now said to be out of existence.

The great saving a pumper would be to the city is pointed out in the coal consumed during a fire to get the needed pressure. The pumper attaches on to the fire plug and draws its own pressure, and the coal pile at the city water and light plant is not lessened by additional pressure. The pumper also could draw water from the mill race in case of a serious down town fire.

Riding on The Cars

One seldom reads any more of a person who never saw an interurban car. Occasionally the newspapers print a story of an extremely old woman who never rode on a trolley car during the era of their rapid advancement since 1890.

Nowadays there are few people who have not ridden on street cars, much less seen them. And little wonder that such conditions exist when it is considered that over fourteen and a half billions of persons were carried by the street railways in 1917. This meant an average of 109 paid trips for each person in the country. The average person takes about twice as many rides as was the case twenty years ago, but increased business has not resulted in increased incomes for the traction line owners. On the contrary earnings of street railways and interurban lines shrunk twelve millions of dollars between 1912 and 1917.

This condition is not normal. The shrinkage is more or less due to corporation-baiting demagogues and the attitude of the public toward public utilities. When people begin to realize that public utilities are a necessity and that they can not exist unless they have a chance at a square deal, then the road will be smoother for corporations which are engaged in serving the people.

Many men are having their hair marcelled" said Charles M. Kozlay, New York. "Dyeing is even more common."

In explanation of the growing fad of having their hair dressed among men, Kozlay said business was demanding young blood and pointed out older men have a much better opportunity if their hair isn't gray and is well kept.

While the large majority of hair dressers were men, when the trade was confined mostly to women, the field for women hair dressers is opening up.

Women like to feel the strong, capable fingers of a man running through their hair, Kozlay said.

But men—they prefer the soft, gentle and flexible fingers of the feminine dermatologist.

PENNANT IN SIGHT FOR PIRATE CLUB

Manager Robinson of Brooklyn Says Pittsburgh Team Has Real Club in Major Leagues

WALTER SCHMIDT PRAISED

Catcher Gets Credit For Keeping Pirates in Good Form and For Keeping up Enthusiasm

(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

By HENRY L. FARRELL

New York, Aug. 4—Prominent in the dash of the Pittsburgh Pirates which seems pennant-bound is the catching sensation of the year, Walter Schmidt.

No less an authority than Wilbert Robinson, manager of the Brooklyn Robins, hands the bulk of credit for the class of the Pirates to their star receiver.

"Schmidt developed the young pitching stars of the Pirate staff," Robby says. "He works with them off the field and he keeps them close to the ground on the field. His work in general steadies the whole club. He is a star of the first magnitude."

In a season of long drawn out games that start the fans toward the gates in the seventh inning, among a bunch of ball players who seem to be playing for the pay envelope only, the Pirates are a very pleasant relief.

After seeing all the major league clubs in action, there is little doubt that the Pirates are the classiest club in the two big leagues. Maybe they won't win the pennant, but it's hard to see what can keep them out of the series.

They play ball with all the spirit and enthusiasm of a college team. They chatter on the field like a bunch of flappers. They hit and they run the bases. They do everything a good ball club should do and they do it well.

George Gibson has the morale of the club at a high pitch. There are no tales of Pirats being fined for playing extra innings around the bright lights. There are no battles between the players and a coach who tells them to do something.

The Pirates look like a ball club in the field, and they act like one. They are well balanced, with plenty of reserve power. They have brilliant youngsters working along beside old veterans who seem to have been given a new lease on life. They have a versatile attack and their defense is spectacular.

Above all, they are not cocky. They are not blustery like the Giants or overbearing like the Reds of 1920. They fight to the last ditch for a point, but they know the bounds of order.

No individual on the club deserves all the credit for the consistent ball they are playing. Perhaps Gibson, behind the scenes, is the inspiration. Maybe Schmidt is the governor on the machine, or Maranville might be the dynamo that speeded up the engine. They all deserve credit and none of them are claiming it.

Watching The Score Board

Yesterday's hero—Mike Menoskey. The Red Sox outfielders made a sensational running catch that cut off a run, Red Faber and the White Sox going down, 3 to 2.

Smith and McHenry hit homers, the Cards trimming the Giants 3 to 2. The setback put the Giants 2 1/2 games behind the Pirates.

After the Phils got away to a 4 to 0 lead, the Pirates won 9 to 5 with Coyer hurling. Schmidt's Pirate catcher had to retire with a split finger.

Alexander lost the first game of a double header to the Braves, 5 to 3 but the Cubs won the second, 7 to 5.

THIS TIME LAST YEAR

Francis J. Fenelly, former shortstop for Reds and Athletics, died at Fall River, Mass.

Cause let the Cubs down with two hits—the Phils winning.

The Browns hit three successive singles in the ninth and beat Washington.

INDIANA TRAVELERS WILL SEEK REVENGE

Team Which Was Defeated Here June 26 by Score of 3 to 2 Returning Sunday

LOCALS HAVE A NEW PITCHER

The Indiana Travelers will come here Sunday for revenge against the Tail Lights and what is expected to be one of the best games of the season will take place at that time. On June 26 Rushville defeated this team 3 to 2 in a fast game, featured by the air tight pitching of Fultz for the losers.

In the line up for Sunday appears Fultz as the twirler. This pitcher also held Greensburg to five runs for Rushville in the game in that city on July 4. The Tail Lights could only connect with five hits when they played here before and the three losers were well earned.

Merkhall has been signed by Rushville and will replace Hall as pitcher, and the line-up will be unchanged. The following is the line-up for the visiting team: Williams, 2b; Montgomery, ss.; Wallsmith, 3b.; Logsdon, lf.; Fultz, p.; Lepper, c.; P. Hornung, rf.; Adams, cf and E. Horning, lb.

The game Sunday will be called at 2:30, and should attract a large bunch of fans.

NOT TO REDUCE BASEBALL PRICES

Club Owners Say it is Improbable to Cut Prices at This Time—Slump is on

NEW YORK HARD HIT

Attendance Has Dropped in Two Months And Fans Say That Prices Are too High

By HENRY L. FARRELL

(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

New York, Aug. 4.—Reduction of baseball prices seems improbable at the present time. Club owners are taking the attitude that nothing is wrong with the game and that the admission prices are satisfactory to the fans.

In New York, where the attendance has slumped in the past two months, the fans gave the high prices as the chief reason for staying away from the Polo grounds.

Mayor Peters of Boston went so far as to ask Harry Frazee, owner of the Red Sox to reduce prices, but he failed to get an answer.

League officials and club owners still maintain that the business end of the game is normal and that base ball is the cheapest and finest sport available for Americans.

"It is folly to think a reduction in prices would increase attendance. So far this year exceeds last year in attendance by 200,000. A price reduction is unnecessary. The increase has been so small it is insignificant" John Heydler president of the National League said today.

Statement of the club owners run about the same. William Veeck, president of the Chicago Cubs:

"Price reductions would have no effect on the attendance. Attendance records of past seasons have been shattered by a large majority this year".

Frank J. Navin, owner of the Detroit club:

"Detroit fans have never kicked against prices".

Gary Herrmann, president of the Cincinnati Reds:

"Price reduction is unnecessary because there is no general kick among the fans. The usual midseason slump is at hand, but that is all".

E. B. Enyon, secretary of the Washington club:

"There is nothing the matter with baseball except the extremely hot weather. Washington is having the best season in history".

In Pittsburgh club officials said the fans appear content with the present prices and they have no complaint to make about the attendance.

E. S. Barnard, general manager of the Cleveland club, says the League controls prices.

Horse Shoe Pitching Proves Daily Sport For Many Hoosiers and Teams Are Formed

FEW RULES ARE GIVEN

Standard Distance Between Stakes Should be 40 Feet—Cities Have Leagues Organized

By HEZE CLARK
(Written for United Press)

Indianapolis, Aug. 4—Barnyard golf is coming back in Indiana.

Few games are more popular this year than the old-fashioned sport of pitching horse shoes. It is conservatively estimated that more than 30,000 persons play the game each day in this state.

Leagues have been organized. Horse shoe pitching courts have been built and in many places electric lights have been placed at the courts so that the players may enjoy the game at night. R. Walton Jarvis, director of the play grounds in Indianapolis, has records that show more than 3,000 persons daily play horse shoes at the fifty-two play grounds and also at six specially constructed horse shoe courts.

Aside from the regularly organized teams, which form leagues in various cities, there is hardly ever a picnic but what an informal game of horse shoes is started.

The game is popular because every person can play it. Official rules governing play have been issued by the recreation departments in various cities of the state. These rules do not all agree, but a brief of the ones most generally accepted follows:

The standard distance between stakes shall be 40 feet.

The ground shall be as level as possible. Indoor pitching contestants will pitch in boxes not to exceed six inches in height. The pitcher's box shall extend three feet to either side and to the front and rear of the stake. The ground thereon shall consist of clay. A pitcher who delivers a shot outside of the pitcher's box

Paris Introduces The Era Of Concealment in Feminine Apparel

Period of Revelation Closed. New Styles Decreeing Skirts Six Inches From Ground, Collars High, Arms Covered and Lines Long, Loose and Straight.

By WILBERT FLEISHER, JR.
U. P. Staff Correspondent

Paris, Aug. 4.—Paris today closed the period of revelation in feminine apparel and introduced the era of concealment.

Parisian styles provide that:

Skirts shall be no more than six inches from the ground.

Collars shall be high.

Arms shall be covered.

Abs le de collete.

The lines shall be long, loose and straight.

These commandments, handed down by the almost unanimous decision of France's celebrated modistes were exemplified at the annual fall opening of exclusive establishments.

There was one exception to the general rule. That was a gown with a tight corsage and panier skirt, intended to be constructed in light colors, the whole effect to be one of youth and innocence.

Otherwise the shows indicated a complete reversal of former times,

Even colors were suppressed, as pretty mannequins minded demurely across the stages before admiring matrons and hopeful men.

Black, grey, tan, khaki and all shades of brown with only an occasional flash of color at collar or belt were the prevailing colors.

A few boisterous styles boasted of fur trimmings.

Here is what the models showed at the Maison Cle:

Black street gowns of soft materials. Velvet was the favorite. The garments were adorned with simple white grey or gold trimmings. Fancy belts with chased metal clasps were shown.

The gowns were largely one piece garments with plain skirts. There were some models with paneled and some with cascade skirts, but the general style was sombre.

For evening wear the extreme "V" decolletage was dismissed for more conservative square cut neck. These were cut lower in the back than the front.

Evening wear, however, made up for the lack of color in other gowns. Emerald green and rose crepe de chine and velvet were favorites in that display. Some satin skirts in many colors, were adorned with a drapery of lace of the same color.

Washington Conference Will Have to Deal With Overflow of Population in Japan

VANDERLIP GIVES INTERVIEW

By LLOYD ALLEN
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

London, Aug. 4—Disposal of Japan's surplus population is the most serious problem confronting the Washington disarmament conference, Frank A. Vanderlip, American financier told the United Press today. "I am quite hopeful with regard to success of the disarmament conference" he said in an interview: "although I realize that the problems are most difficult, especially that of the disposal of Japan's surplus population."

"I visited Japan about a year ago and was greatly impressed by the industrious efforts made by the people to feed themselves. Only about an eighth of the land is arable. The Japanese cultivate the tiniest lest pockets of arable land no bigger than an ordinary room. They sow wheat in rows like peas. Everything is done by hand. The industry of the people surpasses that of the white races.

"However, Japan is faced with the necessity of finding an outlet for her population which is increasing by 700,000 annually."

NOBODY who knew, ever disputed the exceptional worth of the Hupmobile.

How He Grew Full Head of Hair

"At a time when I had become disengaged at trying various hair lotions, tonics, specialists' treatments, etc., I came across in my travels, a Cherokee Indian medicine man who had an elixir that he had ascertained would grow my hair. Although I had but little faith, I gave it a trial. To my amazement a light fuzz soon appeared. It developed day by day into healthy growth, and ere long my hair was as prolific as in my youthful days."

"My head at the top and back was absolutely bald. The scalp was shiny. An expert said that as he thought the roots were extinct, there was no hope of my ever having a new growth. Obviously, the roots had not been dead, but were dormant in the scalp, awaiting the fertilizing potency of hemostyptic ointment."

"I came into possession of the principle for preparing this mysterious ointment, now called KOTAKO, and learned that the oil used was bear oil, which contains a remarkable preparation, which contains genuine organic Bear Oil and other potent hair-fertilizing ingredients."

Fear of Unjust Tax Legislation By Legislature Held Unfounded

Following is the second article setting forth the arguments being used in the fight over the proposed taxation amendments to the constitution to be voted on at a special election Sept. 6.

By EBEN H. WOLCOTT
(Former State Tax Commissioner)
(Written for United Press)

Among the constitutional amendments to be voted upon in September this year none command such attention as the two relating to taxation—the other amends the present constitution by permitting "the taxation of income."

Practically all opposition to these amendments is centered upon the 1st or 10th amendment to be voted upon. This opposition is based almost entirely upon the fear that such broad and unlimited powers granted to the general assembly will lead them into excesses and cause them to favor unjustly special classes for taxation purposes. Experience in other states proves that these fears are unfounded.

We all admit that the law as enforced now is burdensome to the extent of being almost unbearable and it is because the law has been enforced that this condition has arisen. Prior to the Enforcement Act effective in 1919 property was not assessed at its true cash-value. Since then it has been and it is because of this that such wide discontent has arisen.

In 1851 Section 10, of the present constitution relating to taxation was adopted. This is known as the general property tax law, under which all property is assessed alike. This method was satisfactory under the old conditions that existed in 1851 when practically all the property was visible and tangible, but does not fit into present-day conditions, as wealth is almost equally divided between the two classes, tangible and intangible, at this time.

Just as farming, banking, teaching, manufacturing, and all business methods have changed since 1851 to conform to modern methods and experience, so should the taxation of property be changed. Under our present constitution this is impossible, and the only way to secure relief is by amending the constitution so that new methods can be secured.

The fear of those opposed to this change is not borne out by experience of other states. If this change was experimental and let us into untried and unproven methods, we might well hesitate but on the contrary, twenty-two States have already changed their constitutions along the lines of these proposed amendments and twenty states have enacted laws classifying property for taxation or using other certain classes of property as a basis for income taxation purposes. The income tax is self-explanatory. The classification tax recognizes distinctions in earning power and increased value that accrue to certain classes of property and assesses these classes differently at such rates as will induce and permit the owners to list them for taxation. There can only be two methods of taxation that experience and practice have proven workable, a classification tax, taken into consideration various classes of property, the benefit that arises to them through expenditure, raised by taxation expenditures, raised by taxation, the increase in value due to such expenditures; and the ability to pay which is the basis of the income tax. No other ways are known as all other forms such as duties, stamp tax, excise tax, etc., are forms of the above named methods.

The income tax should command itself particularly at this time, as large incomes received from professional service and as salaries etc., are now escaping taxation, while those who receive them are enjoying all the benefits that come to our citizens from money raised by taxation expended upon our schools, parks, roads, streets, benevolent institutions, etc. Yet under our present system, unless these people own real estate or taxable forms of property they pay nothing for these benefits received.

Any changed system will not relieve the present burden, but will only distribute it so that it will be borne more equitably. The only relief would come through stopping waste and extravagance, useless expenditure of public moneys. This is up to the people themselves, as is also the opportunity to vote for a system of taxation that will not burden the few who own visible forms of property, but cause others to bear their part of the expense of government either through a classification or income tax which in other states have already proven effective and satisfactory.

In view of all these facts the people of Indiana should vote to adopt these amendments so as to permit Indiana to have a modern workable effective tax law.

U. S. SOLDIERS SELL COCAINE TO FRENCH

American Soldiers Are in Part Responsible for Enormous Increase in Sale of Drug

POLICE MAKE ARRESTS

By JOHN O'BRIEN,
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Paris, Aug. 3—American soldiers coming to Paris on leave from Coblenz are in great part responsible for the enormous increase in the sale of cocaine, according to a communication made to the Academy of Medicine by Dr. Courtois-Suffit, who added that the Americans go so far as to employ airplanes for the introduction of the drug into French territory.

Dr. Courtois-Suffit declared that the Americans buy the drug from Germans at 200 to 600 francs a kilo (about fifty cents an ounce) and find it easy to dispose of it in Paris at 12,000 to 15,000 francs a kilo, sold in packages containing a few grains a ten francs a package. The French police have arrested many American soldiers accused of being in league with the keepers of "coco" resorts in Montmartre, but although the law of 1916 permits the courts to impose a sentence of five years in jail and a fine of 10,000 francs, the drug vendors have almost invariably got off with a nominal fine and suspended sentence.

Since 1916, the use of cocaine has quintupled in Paris and Dr. Courtois-Suffit said he has evidence that the habit has spread at an alarming rate through the provinces. The Academy appointed a committee to report on the possibility of a better enforcement of the law of 1916.

Columbus, Ind., Aug. 4—A bundle of promissory notes gathered dust today in the Chamber of Commerce office here where there once was a "permanent charity fund" of $1,000. The fund was spent for food and fuel for the needy last winter and persons aided made out promissory notes to repay the money into the fund without interest as soon as they were able.

Since the last note was signed many of those who benefited are working regularly, but not one of them has darkened the doors of the chamber to pay off the debts.

NO SINGER IS EQUAL FOR CARUSO'S PLACE

Several Tenors Are Mentioned But General Verdict is That None is Good Enough

MARTINELLI IS FAVERED

New York, Aug. 4—Caruso's place remains unfilled. Great singing names are bandied from mouth to mouth, dissected, discussed and reviewed—all with the same result: No one of them is good enough to take the master's place.

London reports that Giovanni Martinelli will take Caruso's place at the Metropolitan Opera this season, but at the Metropolitan there was no confirmation of the report.

"Giovanni is a fine lyric tenor," the United Press was informed today, "but he cannot compare with Caruso, who was almost a miracle.

"He will sing here this season, it is true, but so will Gigli and Howard and a handful of other stars equally as famous as Martinelli."

"I am more than ever impressed with the bigness of the man, the bigness of his job and what I fully believe will be a big treat for Rush county folks next Sunday," Mr. Mauzy writes.

Mr. Mauzy was in a large measure responsible in the Rev. Mr. Petty being engaged for this year's program because he heard the New York minister at a meeting of the New York Rotary club last winter and he was so impressed with his message and his personality that he spoke to him about a chautauqua address here and presented the matter to the program committee, which resulted in the date being made for next Sunday.

Mr. Mauzy writes that following their dinner last Sunday "three steps down" in the heart of Greenwich Village, just a few squares from Judson Memorial church, he and Mr. and Mrs. Petty walked through the Italian quarter where the minister was greeted on all sides, "Hello Mr. Petty." They went to the Neighborhood House, the old homestead of Helen Gould, where there is a night school, day nursery, gymnasium, cooking school, dental clinic and other schools conducted by Judson Memorial church. Dr. Petty has twenty-six paid assistants working under his supervision, Mr. Mauzy says.

PUBLIC SENTIMENT CHANGES

Best Citizens Who Formerly Winked at Violations Now Aid in Bringing Violators to Justice

"Evidence on every hand convinces us that public sentiment has reached the point where a majority of the people of this state favor and demand enforcement of the fish and game laws," says George N. Mannfeld, chief of the fish, game and bird protective associations, which has been received by George Coons, president of the Rush county organization.

"For many years some of our best citizens stood by knowing of flagrant violations of these laws but never moved so much as a finger to assist in bringing violators to justice. It is therefore pleasing to see that conditions are changed. In this connection we wish to acknowledge the valuable assistance of the various associations for without their active support this division will never be able to eliminate the confirmed violator."

"Experience has taught that trying to educate the "fish pirate" and "game hog" is a sad failure. It is only through prosecution they can ever be eliminated. This makes it necessary to vigorously enforce all game and fish laws. Ultimately we may look for a better observance of the laws."

The letter pays tribute to Richard Lieber, in charge of the game warden service as well as being director of the conservation department in these words: "In my opinion the present warden service is far superior to any which the state has ever had."

PENNANT IN SIGHT FOR PIRATE CLUB

Manager Robinson of Brooklyn Says Pittsburgh Team Has Real Club in Major Leagues

WALTER SCHMIDT PRAISED

Catcher Gets Credit For Keeping Pirates in Good Form and For Keeping up Enthusiasm

(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

By HENRY L. FARRELL

New York, Aug. 4.—Prominent in the dash of the Pittsburgh Pirates which seems pennant-ward is the catching sensation of the year, Walter Schmidt.

No less an authority than Wilbert Robinson, manager of the Brooklyn Robins, hands the bulk of credit for the class of the Pirates to their star receiver.

"Schmidt developed the young pitching stars of the Pirate staff," Robby says. "He works with them off the field and he keeps them close to the ground on the field. His work in general steadies the whole club. He is a star of the first magnitude."

In a season of long drawn out games that start the fans toward the gates in the seventh inning, among a bunch of ball players who seem to be playing for the pay envelope only, the Pirates are a very pleasant relief.

After seeing all the major league clubs in action, there is little doubt that the Pirates are the classiest club in the two big leagues. Maybe they won't win the pennant, but it's hard to see what can keep them out of the series.

They play ball with all the spirit and enthusiasm of a college team. They chat on the field like a bunch of flappers. They hit and they run the bases. They do everything a good ball club should do and they do it well.

George Gibson has the morale of the club at a high pitch. There are no tales of Pirates being fined for playing extra innings around the bright lights. There are no battles between the players and a coach who tells them to do something.

The Pirates look like a ball club in the field, and they act like one. They are well balanced, with plenty of reserve power. They have brilliant youngsters working along beside old veterans who seem to have been given a new lease on life. They have a versatile attack and their defense is spectacular.

Above all, they are not cocky. They are not blustery like the Giants or overbearing like the Reds of 1920. They fight to the last ditch for a point, but they know the bounds of order.

No individual on the club deserves all the credit for the consistent ball they are playing. Perhaps Gibson, behind the scenes, is the inspiration. Maybe Schmidt is the governor on the machine, or Maranville might be the dynamo that speeded up the engine. They all deserve credit and none of them are claiming it.

INDIANA TRAVELERS WILL SEEK REVENGE

Team Which Was Defeated Here June 26 by Score of 3 to 2 Returning Sunday

LOCALS HAVE A NEW PITCHER

The Indiana Travelers will come here Sunday for revenge against the Tail Lights and what is expected to be one of the best games of the season will take place at that time. On June 26 Rushville defeated this team 3 to 2 in a fast game, featured by the air tight pitching of Fultz for the losers.

In the line up for Sunday appears Fultz as the twirler. This pitcher also held Greensburg to five runs for Rushville in the game in that city on July 4. The Tail Lights could only connect with five hits when they played here before, and the three runs were well earned.

Merkhall has been signed by Rushville and will replace Hall as pitcher, and the line-up will be unchanged. The following is the line-up for the visiting team: Williams, 2b; Montgomery, ss.; Wallsmith, 3b.; Logsdon, lf.; Fultz, p.; Lepper, c.; P. Horning, rf.; Adams, cf; E. Horning, 1b.

The game Sunday will be called at 2:30, and should attract a large bunch of fans.

NOT TO REDUCE BASEBALL PRICES

Club Owners Say It is Improbable to Cut Prices at This Time—Slump is on

NEW YORK HARD HIT

Attendance Has Dropped in Two Months And Fans Say That Prices Are too High

By HENRY L. FARRELL

(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

New York, Aug. 4.—Reduction of baseball prices seems improbable at the present time. Club owners are taking the attitude that nothing is wrong with the game and that the admission prices are satisfactory to the fans.

In New York, where the attendance has slumped in the past two months, the fans gave the high prices as the chief reason for staying away from the Polo grounds.

Mayor Peters of Boston went so far as to ask Harry Fraze, owner of the Red Sox to reduce prices, but he failed to get an answer.

League officials and club owners still maintain that the business end of the game is normal and that base ball is the cheapest and finest sport available for Americans.

"It is folly to think a reduction in prices would increase attendance. So far this year exceeds last year in attendance by 200,000. A price reduction is unnecessary. The increase has been so small it is insignificant," John Heydler, president of the National League said today.

Statement of the club owners run about the same. William Veeck, president of the Chicago Cubs:

"Price reductions would have no effect on the attendance. Attendance records of past seasons have been shattered by a large majority this year."

Frank J. Navin, owner of the Detroit club:

"Detroit fans have never kicked against prices."

Gary Herrmann, president of the Cincinnati Reds:

"Price reduction is unnecessary because there is no general kick among the fans. The usual midseason slump is at hand, but that is all."

E. B. Enyon, secretary of the Washington club:

"There is nothing the matter with baseball except the extremely hot weather. Washington is having the best season in history."

In Pittsburgh club officials said the fans appear content with the present prices and they have no complaint to make about the attendance.

E. S. Barnard, general manager of the Cleveland club, says the League controls prices.

"BARNYARD GOLF" HITS INDIANA

Horse Shoe Pitching Proves Daily Sport For Many Hoosiers and Teams Are Formed

FEW RULES ARE GIVEN

Standard Distance Between Stakes Should be 40 Feet—Cities Have Leagues Organized

By HEZE CLARK
(written for United Press)

Indianapolis, Aug. 4—Barnyard golf is "coming back" in Indiana.

Few games are more popular this year than the old-fashioned sport of pitching horse shoes. It is conservatively estimated that more than 30,000 persons play the game each day in this state.

Leagues have been organized. Horse shoe pitching courts have been built and in many places electric lights have been placed at the courts so that the players may enjoy the game at night. R. Walton Jarvis, director of the play grounds in Indianapolis, has records that show more than 3,000 persons daily play horse shoes at the fifty-two play grounds and also at six specially constructed horse shoe courts.

Aside from the regularly organized teams, which form leagues in various cities, there is hardly ever a picnic but what an informal game of horse shoes is started.

The game is popular because every person can play it. Official rules governing play have been issued by the recreation departments in various cities of the state. These rules do not all agree, but a brief of the ones most generally accepted follows:

The standard distance between stakes shall be 40 feet.

The ground shall be as level as possible. Indoor pitching contestants will pitch in boxes not to exceed six inches in height. The pitcher's box shall extend three feet to either side and to the front and rear of the stake. The ground thereon shall consist of clay. A pitcher who delivers a shoe outside of the pitcher's box shall lose the value of the pitch.

The stakes shall be of steel one inch in diameter, perpendicular and extending eight inches above the ground.

How He Grew Full Head of Hair

"At a time when I had become disengaged at trying various hair lotions, tonics, specialists' treatments, etc., I came across in my travels, a Cherokee Indian medicine man who had an elixir that he had ascertained would grow my hair. Although I had but little faith, I gave it a trial. To my amazement a light fuzz soon appeared. It grew, and ere long my hair was as prolific as in my youthful days."

"My head at the top and back was absolutely bald. The scalp was shiny. An expert said that as he thought the roots were extinct, there was no hope of regrowth. I had no money. Obviously, the hair roots had not been dead, but were dormant in the scalp, awaiting the fertilizing potency of the mysterious pomade."

I came into possession of the product, and prepared a similar ointment, named KOTALCO, and later had the recipe put into practical form by a chemist. That my own hair growth was permanent has been proved. Many men and women, also children, have reported satisfactory results from Kotalko.

The above statements are from legal affidavit on file in the office of Kotalko Co. which control the manufacture and sale of the remarkable preparation, which contains genuine, organic, Bear Oil and other potent hair-fertilizing ingredients.

Fear of Unjust Tax Legislation By Legislature Held Unfounded

Following is the second article setting forth the arguments being used in the fight over the proposed taxation amendments to the constitution to be voted on at a special election Sept. 6.

By EBEN H. WOLCOTT
(Former State Tax Commissioner)
(Written for United Press)

Among the constitutional amendments to be voted upon in September this year none command such attention as the two relating to taxation. The other amends the present constitution by permitting "the taxation of income."

Practically all opposition to these amendments is centered upon the 1st or 10th amendment to be voted upon. This opposition is based almost entirely upon the fear that such broad and unlimited powers granted to the general assembly will lead them into excesses and cause them to favor unjustly special classes for taxation purposes. Experience in other states proves that these fears are unfounded.

We all admit that the law as enforced now is burdensome to the extent of being almost unbearable and it is because the law has been enforced that this condition has arisen. Prior to the Enforcement Act effective in 1919 property was not assessed at its true cash-value. Since then it has been and it is because of this that such wide discontent has arisen.

In 1851 Section 10, of the present constitution relating to taxation was adopted. This is known as the general property tax law, under which all property is assessed alike. This method was satisfactory under the old conditions that existed in 1851 when practically all the property was visible and tangible, but does not fit into present-day conditions, as wealth is almost equally divided between the two classes, tangible and intangible, at this time.

Just as farming, banking, teaching, manufacturing, and all business methods have changed since 1851 to conform to modern methods and experience, so should the taxation of property be changed. Under our present constitution this is impossible, and the only way to secure relief is by amending the constitution so that new methods can be secured.

The fear of those opposed to this change is not borne out by experience of other states. If this change was experimental and let us into untried and unproven methods, we might well hesitate but on the contrary, twenty-two States have already changed their constitutions along the lines of these proposed amendments and twenty states have enacted laws classifying property for taxation or using other certain classes of property as a basis for income taxation purposes. The income tax is self-explanatory. The classification tax recognizes distinctions in earning power and increased value that accrue to certain classes of property and assesses these classes differently at such rates as will induce and permit the owners to list them for taxation. There can only be two methods of taxation that experience and practice have proven workable, a classification tax, taken into consideration various classes of property, the benefit that arises to them through expenditure, raised by taxation expenditures, raised by taxation, the increase in value due to such expenditures, and the ability to pay which is the basis of the income tax. No other ways are known as all other forms such as duties, stamp tax, excise tax, etc., are forms of the above named methods.

The income tax should command itself particularly at this time, as large incomes received from professional service and as salaries, etc., are now escaping taxation, while those who receive them are enjoying all the benefits that come to our citizens from money raised by taxation expended upon our schools, parks, roads, streets, benevolent institutions, etc. Yet under our present system, unless these people own real estate or taxable forms of property they pay nothing for these benefits received.

Any changed system will not relieve the present burden, but will only distribute it so that it will be borne more equitably. The only relief would come through stopping waste and extravagance, useless expenditure of public moneys. This is up to the people themselves, as is also the opportunity to vote for a system of taxation that will not burden the few who own visible forms of property but cause others to bear their part of the expense of government, either through a classification or income tax which in other states have already proven effective and satisfactory.

In view of all these facts the people of Indiana should vote to adopt these amendments so as to permit Indiana to have a modern workable effective tax law.

U. S. SOLDIERS SELL COCAINE TO FRENCH

American Soldiers Are in Part Responsible for Enormous Increase in Sale of Drug

POLICE MAKE ARRESTS

By JOHN O'BRIEN,
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

Paris, Aug. 3—American soldiers coming to Paris on leave from Coblenz are in great part responsible for the enormous increase in the sale of cocaine, according to a communication made to the Academy of Medicine by Dr. Courtois-Suffit, who added that the Americans go so far as to employ airplanes for the introduction of the drug into French territory.

Dr. Courtois-Suffit declared that the Americans buy the drug from Germans at 200 to 600 francs a kilo (about fifty cents an ounce) and find it easy to dispose of it in Paris at 12,000 to 15,000 francs a kilo, sold in packages containing a few grains a ten francs a package. The French police have arrested many American soldiers accused of being in league with the keepers of "coco" resorts in Montmatre, but although the law of 1916 permits the courts to impose a sentence of five years in jail and a fine of 10,000 francs, the drug vendors have almost invariably got off with a nominal fine and a suspended sentence.

Since 1916, the use of cocaine has quintupled in Paris and Dr. Courtois-Suffit said he has evidence that the habit has spread at an alarming rate through the provinces. The Academy appointed a committee to report on the possibility of a better enforcement of the law of 1916.

NO SINGER IS EQUAL FOR CARUSO'S PLACE

MARTINELLI IS FAVERED

New York, Aug. 4—Caruso's place remains unfilled. Great singing names are bandied from mouth to mouth, dissected, discussed and reviewed—all with the same result: No one of them is good enough to take the master's place.

London reports that Giovanni Martinelli will take Caruso's place at the Metropolitan Opera this season, but at the Metropolitan there was no confirmation of the report.

Giovanni is a fine lyric tenor, the United Press was informed today, "but he cannot compare with Caruso, who was almost a miracle."

"He will sing here this season, it is true, but so will Gigli and Howard and a handful of other stars equally as famous as Martinelli."
